Website Topic

The topic I've decided to do my website project on is a twitch stream or content creation marketing page. This will be used to market my Twitch account NCLBandido and give me a place to have all of my potential content, projects, and information stored in one place. The importance of having a central hub website for all of your content in the world of content creation is so you'll have one place where consumers or visitors can access all of your content, projects and see important updates as well as ask questions and contribute to content. The marketing website for content creators is used by the largest creators in the world, including people with large audiences. The website will mostly target people that watch streams and videos about video games or real-life content.

The website's purpose would be to increase traffic to the Twitch or YouTube channel and to increase the audience that projects, videos, and streams would reach. The website would include pages where you can find frequently asked questions, videos, stream schedule, a forum for people to provide input on how to improve the content, contact information, a tip page, and merchandise page.

Examples of this are websites like Fextralife and Nerdstreet Gaming, as well as the website by the creator Otaku Asylum.
